

MakoLab

MakoLab is a digital project house, a team of more than three hundred experts accomplishing projects in the digital transformation field. In line with our motto, 'User-inspired solutions', we combine engineering skills and creativity to produce intuitive IT tools for business and end users.

We specialise in building custom-designed solutions which work intelligently to bring brands and consumers together and forge a seamless connection between the real world and the virtual. In this era of the experience economy, we equip our clients with tailor-made solutions and digital platforms, enabling them to build relationships with their customers, grow their businesses and develop their market value. Deploying global solutions adapted to the requirements of local markets is another of our areas of expertise.

Our key fields of specialisation are:

- product design;
- digital transformation consultancy;
- mobile & web development;
